Shining!

Jesus called himself the light of the world (John 8:12). What made him shine? Certainly it was his words (John 7:46). But it wasn't only his words; it was also his works. He said, "The works that I do in my Father's name bear witness about me" (John 10:25). Jesus's works made who he was... manifestly clear. His works shone, and they still shine.

Jesus called us the light of the world (Matthew 5:14). What makes us shine? It isn't only our words, but our works. The works we do in Jesus's name bear witness about us and about him. Our outward, observable, public works make who we are and whose we are... manifestly clear. Just like Jesus, our works cause some to revile us and persecute us and utter all kinds of evil against us falsely on his account, but they also cause others to give glory to our heavenly Father and to see him for who he truly is.

"A city set on a hill cannot be hidden." What kind of good works shine like that? It's not a difficult question to answer. Ask yourself what good works have other Christians done that stand out most in your memory? Who are the people you've known who have been most radiant with the light of Jesus?

The shining people haven't necessarily been the smartest, or most articulate, or most talented, or had the most publicly influential platforms. They've been the most servant-hearted and sacrificially loving people. They've been the ones who find God's steadfast love better than life (Psalm 63:3). They've consistently loved others in both word and deed (1 John 3:18). Their words and deeds have sometimes been tender and other times tough, depending on the need. Their actions have demonstrated that they truly consider others more significant than themselves (Philippians 2:3), and that they pursue others' good more than others' approval.

It's not merely what the shining people do, but why they do it and how they do it that makes them literally remarkable — people talk about them. Some praise them, and others slander them. But it is their doing, not talking, that sets them apart. And we've found ourselves both drawn to them and unnerved by them, because the light of their humble, word-and-deed love has both warmed our chilled hearts and exposed our selfishness and pride.

Jeremy
